I am not in favor of this petition. The issue is no about changing the difficulty of the elements,it is about removing the code from being a requirement nothing else nothing more. I am in favor of removing the code as a testing element for any class.